未来博士③分間 HIRAKU 3MT COMPETITION 2019 PRESENTATION WORKSHOP

"Tell me about your research": Describing your story effectively

"If you can't explain [your research] to a six year old, you don't understand it yourself"

Einstein believed that scholars needed to be engaged with the general public, particularly when it came to explaining their research. Presentation skills are crucial for a successful career post PhD, inside and outside of academia. This workshop will combine informative and interactive activities for you to learn the followings:

Ways to effectively communicate your research

How to narrow down your research and explain the most significant elements
