

Organized jointly by the HU Writing Center and Research Promotion Group

nature masterclasses

SPRINGER NATURE

Writing Retreat

Enhance your research with compelling narratives

Hiroshima Airport Hotel

13 - 14 March | Free!

Highlights

- Join this two-day writing retreat where you can make significant progress on your existing project.
- Attend Masterclasses offered by an expert Nature trainer, and interact with him over the two-day stay!
- Participation is free!
Accommodation, buffet-style dinner, and breakfast for the two-day stay will be provided.

Day 1: Craft your research narrative

Day 2: Communicate your research

Book online today

<https://forms.office.com/r/QeHS4Tnkk7>

- Registration is limited to 30 participants
- Open to graduate students and faculty
- Suitable for publications and presentations
- For more information, contact us via wrc-research@office.hiroshima-u.ac.jp

Participants are responsible for their own transportation to and from the Hiroshima Airport Hotel and lunch costs.

Our Speakers

Dr. Jeffrey Robens

is Head of Community Engagement at Nature Portfolio and Lead Trainer for Nature Masterclasses. After 20 years of academic experience with numerous publications and awards, he has conducted over 650 workshops worldwide to help researchers improve their publication quality and impact.

Dr. Julie Tanner

is a Writing Advisor at Hiroshima University's Writing Center, where she delivers consultations and classes on developing research narratives.

Dr. Yuhong Zhu

is a Writing Advisor at Hiroshima University's Writing Center, where he focuses on helping researchers communicate with their fields in a more engaging way.