TOPIC Work in Japan: Insights and Opportunities for Foreign Talent

GUEST SPEAKER

Dr. Narendra Sarda from Kanadevia

Dr. Narendra Sarda earned his Ph.D. in Life and Material Science from Tokushima University, Japan. After completing his doctorate, he joined Kanadevia Corporation in Osaka in 2017 as an engineer. Over the years, he has embraced diverse roles, transitioning from Researcher to System Engineer and later to Process Engineer. He was seconded to Kanadevia's subsidiary in Zurich, Switzerland, where he contributed to the world's largest Waste-to-Energy plant. During his one-and-a-half year tenure there, he worked as a System Engineer, and later as a Global Coordinator and Process Engineer. Recently, Dr. Sarda made a significant career shift from engineering to HR - People and Culture Department, with a mission to hire and support global talent at Kanadevia. His vision is to provide international professionals with a platform to develop their careers in Japan. He strongly encourages students to learn Japanese language and culture, as this is key to building a successful career in Japan. With over 13 years of experience in Japan, Dr. Sarda shares valuable perspectives on building a successful career as a foreign professional.
