

Getting Started with UpToDate Expert AI and Open Athens Login

- UpToDate Expert AI is now available at Hiroshima University.
- To use UpToDate Expert AI, you must create a personal account (the same account used for UpToDate).
- By linking your Hiroshima University ID with your personal account through Open Athens, you can access the service from off campus without worrying about the 90-day on-campus reauthentication requirement.

What is UpToDate Expert AI?

- UpToDate Expert AI is a healthcare-focused generative AI tool that uses the content of UpToDate, a clinical decision support resource, to generate responses.
- It supports clinical question answering, clinical reasoning, and medical education using peer-reviewed and evidence-based UpToDate content.
- Responses include links to the UpToDate content and PubMed references used to generate the answer, allowing users to verify supporting evidence and original literature easily.
- Because responses are based solely on UpToDate content, the information provided is transparent and consistent. Data entered into the system is not used for AI training.
