

Information on the IOAP (Institutional Open Access Program)

MDPI is the world's largest open-access academic publisher, headquartered in Switzerland.

Hiroshima University participates in the IOAP (Institutional Open Access Program), and you are free to take advantage of the following benefits at any time.

APC (Article Processing Charges) ^{*1}	Open Access Book Publication Fees	English Proofreading Fees ^{*2}
10% Discount	10% Discount	15% Discount

When taking advantage of the above benefits, please be sure to use an email address that includes your university's domain (hiroshima-u.ac.jp).

*1 APC (Article Processing Charge)

This is a publication fee charged to authors for each open-access article published to cover the costs of professional peer review, editing, and publishing, as well as the operational and maintenance costs of the journal and article promotion. APCs vary depending on the journal. <https://www.mdpi.com/apc>

*2 MDPI English Proofreading Service

We offer fast, professional English proofreading at an affordable price.

This service is available not only for manuscripts submitted to MDPI journals.

Selecting a Discount When Submitting a Manuscript

If you submit from an email address with a domain registered in the Institutional Open Access Program (IOAP) (e.g., hiroshima-u.ac.jp), the university name will automatically appear in the “Institutional Open Access Program” field. If you wish to use another discount, please enter the voucher code in the “Discount Vouchers” section below. *

The discount will be applied when you select “Proceed” at the end. After submission, authors will receive an email regarding the Article Processing Charge (APC); however, you may change the discount until the manuscript is accepted. If you wish to apply a different discount, please contact your assigned Assistant Editor or the Editorial Office via email.

*If combining discounts, you must select either the “Reviewer Voucher” or the “Invitational Discount Voucher.”
