

236th IDEC Asia Seminar

Topic

“Does Urbanization Matter for Developing Long-term Climate Scenarios? Implications from Case Study Findings”

17:00-17:05 Shinji Kaneko (IDEC) Introduction

17:05-17:20 Shinji Kaneko (IDEC)

Change in Carbon Responsibility for Tokyo from 1990 to 2005: Evidence from Carbon Accounting Using Inter-Regional Input-Output Environmental Model

17:20-17:35 Makoto Chikaraishi (University of Tokyo, JSPS Research Fellow)

The Moderating Effects of Urbanization on CO₂ Emissions

17:35-17:50 Phetkeo Poumanyvong (IDEC)

Urbanization and Energy Consumption in China

17:50-18:05 Satoru Komatsu (IDEC)

Effects of Internal Migration on Fossil Fuel Use and CO₂ emissions in Asian Developing Countries

18:05-18:30

Q&A, Discussion

Time: 17:00-18:30, May 17 (Thu.), 2012

Venue: Large Conference Room, IDEC (1st floor)

Language: English

Coordinator: Shinji Kaneko

Ext.: 6916, E-mail: kshinji {at} hirosshima-u.ac.jp