

INU INTERNATIONAL
NETWORK
OF UNIVERSITIES
The Consortium for Global Citizenship

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

INU Master's Summer School 2013 for Environmental Science

2013 Topic: "Global Environmental Sustainability – Preparing for Climate Change and Coastal Disasters"

The INU is proud to announce its second INU Master's Summer School for Environmental Science in 2013. This year's topic will focus on how to prepare for 'Climate Change and Coastal Disasters.' We invite graduate students in relevant fields of study from INU member institutions to apply for this unique learning opportunity.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

- An intensive educational program with lectures and workshops;
- Academic experts and guest speakers from around the world;
- Field trip onboard of the research vessel Toyoshio Maru and visit to the marine research institutes in Hiroshima;
- Visit to Hiroshima Bay and Miyajima Island (world heritage);
- Interactive workshops with students from across the globe;
- An integrated cultural program that introduces a unique side of Hiroshima, which includes a visit to the Peace Memorial Museum and admission to attend the annual Hiroshima Peace Memorial Ceremony on 6 August.

KEY EDUCATIONAL GOALS:

- To know the similarities and differences in local environmental issues related to climate change and coastal disaster through the presentations of the country case study reports and discussions.
- To learn how they are tackling the local environmental issues with regard to climate change and coastal disaster in Japan.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

- When: August 3 – 9, 2013
- Where: Hiroshima University, Japan
- How to apply: Fill the application form* and send it by email to Dr. Ione Madinabeitia [imadinab@hiroshima-u.ac.jp]
- Registration deadline: MAY 6, 2013
- Inquiries:
Dr. Ione Madinabeitia [imadinab@hiroshima-u.ac.jp] or Prof. Tamiji Yamamoto [tamyama@hiroshima-u.ac.jp]

*Application forms available through MOMIJI and <http://www.hiroshima-u.ac.jp/en/top/International/inu/students/summerschool-envsci/>