

IGS

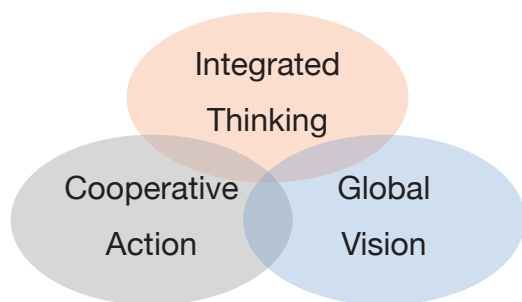

Hiroshima University
School of Integrated Arts and Sciences
Department of Integrated Global Studies
(Planned to start: April, 2018)

Global Campus

Students from all over the globe will learn together. They will develop intercultural communication competence, broad-mindedness, and cooperative skills to bring more peace to the world.

5 Fast Facts about Integrated Global Studies

1. Full-time 4-year undergraduate English program
2. Foreign language competence: Students will be competent with English and Japanese.
3. Interdisciplinary arts and sciences education: Students will gain broad knowledge and multiple viewpoints to look into problems in a global society.
4. Integrative perspectives and cooperative skills: Students will be able to think beyond nationality, region, religion, culture, and language, and apply different approaches, and to cooperate with others to challenge social and environmental issues in the world.
5. Careers after graduation: Students will be ready to work in Japan or abroad, or pursue academic careers at graduate schools.

Education Program for IGS

- (1) Language education
 - * All courses are conducted in English.
 - * Those whose L1 is Japanese are required to attend a study abroad program in the second year.
 - * Students whose L1 is not Japanese will study Japanese intensively.
 - * Students are encouraged to learn a third or fourth foreign language.
- (2) Tailor-made curriculum: students create their own individual curriculum guided by their tutors
- (3) Multidisciplinary subjects to acquire the knowledge and methodology that provide a foundation for the possible solutions to social and environmental issues.
- (4) Courses to improve debate and presentation skills (English and Japanese)
- (5) Curricula focused on culture and tourism, peace and communication, and environment and society
- (6) Global internship (overseas companies, multinational enterprises, etc.) for the 3rd-year students
- (7) Problem-solving seminar and graduation thesis

Admission Information for IGS

1. A total of 40 students are admitted every year.
2. The program starts in April.
3. Admission procedures are as the following (*=conditions for application):
 - (1) Admissions Office Exam (Interview based, abroad and in Japan)
 - *A TOEIC score above 600 or equal results from other established tests are required (official test scores mandatory).
 - (2) General examination (In Japan) *The results of the National Center Test are required.

広島大学

<http://www.hiroshima-u.ac.jp/igs/>