The 11th Homecoming Day of Hiroshima University is Held

The 11th Homecoming Day of Hiroshima University will be held on Saturday, 4th November 2017 for Higashi Hiroshima campus, and on Saturday, 11th November 2017 for Higashi Senda campus, respectively.

Homecoming Day is an annual event where Hiroshima University and HU Alumni Association jointly organize the event, inviting and welcoming ex-faculty members and ex-students of HU to the campuses.

In Higashi Hiroshima campus, the Opening Ceremony at Satake Memorial Hall will be followed by the President's Awards/Excellent Educator Awards, mini-concert, and a Special Lecture entitled "The Lure of Egypt Excavation" by Professor Sakuji Yoshimura (often appearing TV programs as an expert on Egyptian Archaeology) is held.

Around Satake Memorial Hall, Special food Product Fairs will be held by partner communities, and many more events are being organized by Schools and Graduate Schools of HU. In the evening, a get-together party will be held in the reception hall at the Faculty Club.

On Kasumi campus, a lecture presentation entitled “Cardiac Diseases---Now and Future” will be held, whereas in Higashi Senda campus “Lecture Presentations by HU Law School” is organized.

On Higashi Hiroshima and Kasumi campuses, University Festivals are also held on that same day.
